COPY of PROVISIONAL ARTICLES signed at PARIS, November 30, 1782, by the COMMISS-SIONERS of His BRITANNICK MAJESTY and the COMMISSIONERS of the UNITED STATES of AMERICA.

ARTICLES agreed upon by and between RICHARD OSWALD, Esq. the Commissioner of his Britannick Majesty for treating of peace with the Commissioners of the United States of America, in behalf of his said
Majesty on the one part, and JOHN ADAMS,
BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, JOHN JAY, and HENRY LAURENS, four of the Commissioners of the said States for treating of peace with the Commissioner of his said
Majesty on their behalf on the other part,
to be inserted in, and to constitute a treaty of peace proposed to be concluded between B the

the Crown of Great Britain and the said United States ; but which treaty is not to be concluded until terms of a peace shall be agreed upon between Great Britain and France ; and his Britannick Majesty shall be ready to conclude such treaty accordingly.

WHEREAS reciprocal advantages and mutual convenience are found by experience to form the only permanent foundation of peace and friendship between States, it is agreed to form the Articles of the proposed Treaty on such principles of liberal equity and reciprocity, as that partial advantages (those seeds of discord) being excluded, such a beneficial and satisfactory intercourse between the two countries may be established, as to promise and secure to both perpetual peace and harmony.

A R T I C L E I.

His Britannick Majesty acknowledges the said United States, viz. New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New-York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, to be Free, Sovereign, and Independent States: that he treats with them as such ; and for himself, his heirs and successors, cessors, relinquishes all claim to the government, propriety, and territorial rights of the same, and every part thereof: and that all disputes which might arise in future, on the subject of the boundaries of the said United States may be prevented, it is hereby agreed and declared, that the following are, and shall be their boundaries, viz.

A R T I C L E II.

From the north-west angle of Nova-Scotia, viz. That angle which is formed by a line drawn due north from the source of St. Croix River to the Highlands, along the said islands which divide those rivers that empty themselves into the River St. Lawrence from those which fall into the Atlantic Ocean, to the north-westernmost head of Connecticut River; thence down along the middle of that river to the forty-fifth degree of north latitude; from thence by a line due west on said latitude, until it strikes the River Iroquois or Cataraquy; thence along the middle of said river into Lake Ontario, through the middle of said lake, until it strikes the communication by water between that Lake and Lake Erie; thence along the middle of said communication into Lake Erie, through the middle of said Lake, until it arrives at the water communication between that Lake and Lake Huron; thence along the middle of said water communication between that Lake and Lake Superior; thence through Lake Superior, northward of the Isles Royal and Phelipeaux, to the Long Lake; thence through the middle of said Long Lake, and the water communication between it and the Lake of the Woods, to the said Lake of the Woods; thence through the said Lake to the most north-western point thereof, and from thence on a due west course to the River Mississippi; thence by a line to be drawn along the middle of the said River Mississippi, until it shall intersect the northernmost part of the thirty-first degree of north latitude.— South, by a line to be drawn due east from the determination of the line last mentioned in the latitude of thirty-one degrees north of the Equator, to the middle of the River Apalachicola or Catahouche; thence along the middle thereof to its junction with the Flint River; thence strait to the head of St. Mary's River, and thence down along the middle of St. Mary's River to the Atlantic Ocean.— East, by a line to be drawn along the middle of the River St. Croix, from its mouth in the Bay of Fundy, to its source; and from its source directly north, to the aforesaid Highlands which divide the Rivers that fall into the Atlantic Ocean from those which fall into the River St. Lawrence, comprehending all islands within twenty leagues of any part of the shores of the United States, and lying between lines to be drawn due east from the points where the aforesaid boundaries between Nova Scotia on the one part, and East Florida on the other, shall respectively touch the Bay of Fundy and the Atlantic Ocean, excepting such islands as now are, or heretofore have been, within the limits of the said Province of Nova Scotia.

and

A R T I C L E III.

It is agreed, that the people of the United States shall continue to enjoy unmolested the right to take fish of every kind on the Grand Bank, and on all the other Banks of Newfoundland; also in the Gulph of Saint Lawrence, and at all other places in the sea where the inhabitants of both countries used at any time heretofore to fish. And also that the inhabitants of the United States shall have liberty to take fish of every kind on such part of the coast of Newfoundland as British fishermen shall use (but not to dry or cure the same on that island), and also on the coasts, bays and creeks of all other of his Britannick Majesty's dominions in America; and that the American fishermen shall have liberty to dry and cure fish in any of the unsettled bays, harbours and creeks of Nova-Scotia, Magdalen Islands, and Labrador, so long as the same shall remain unsettled; but so soon as the same, or either of them, shall be

be settled, it shall not be lawful for the said fishermen to dry or cure fish at such settlement, without a previous agreement for that purpose with the inhabitants, proprietors, or possessors of the ground.

A R T I C L E IV.

It is agreed, that creditors on either side shall meet with no lawful impediment to the recovery of the full value in sterling money of all bonâ fide debts heretofore contracted.

A R T I C L E V.

It is agreed, that the Congress shall earnestly recommend it to the Legislatures of the respective States, to provide for the restitution of all estates, rights and properties which have been confiscated belonging to real British subjects ; and also of the estates, rights and properties of persons resident in districts in the possession of his Majesty's arms, and who have not borne arms against the said United States : and that persons of any other description shall have free liberty to go to any part or parts of any of the Thirteen United States, and therein to remain twelve months unmolested in their endeavours to obtain the restitution of such of their estates, rights and properties as may have been confiscated. And that Congress shall also earnestly recommend commend to the several States a reconsideration and revision of all acts or laws regarding the premises, so as to render the said laws or acts perfectly consistent, not only with justice and equity, but with that spirit of conciliation which on the return of the blessings of peace should universally prevail. And that Congress shall also earnestly recommend to the several States, that the estates, rights and properties of such last-mentioned persons shall be restored to them ; they refunding to any persons who may be now in possession the bonâ fide price (where any has been given) which such persons may have paid on purchasing any of the said lands or properties since the confiscation.

And it is agreed, that all persons who have any interest in confiscated lands either by debts, marriage-settlements, or otherwise, shall meet with no lawful impediment in the prosecution of their just rights.

A R T I C L E VI.

That there shall be no future confiscations made, nor any prosecutions commenced against any person or persons for or by reason of the part which he or they may have taken in the present war ; and that no person shall on that account suffer any future loss or damage, either in his person, liberty or property ; and that those who may be in confinement ment on such charges at the time of the ratification of the treaty in America, shall be immediately set at liberty, and the prosecutions so commenced be discontinued.

A R T I C L E VII.

There shall be a firm and perpetual peace between his Britannick Majesty and the said States, and between the subjects of the one and the citizens of the other : wherefore all hostilities both by sea and land shall then immediately cease ; all prisoners on both sides shall be set at liberty ; and his Britannick Majesty shall with all convenient speed, and without causing any destruction or carrying away any negroes, or other property of the American Inhabitants, withdraw all his armies, garrisons, and fleets from the said United States, and from every port, place, and harbour within the same ; leaving in all fortifications the American artillery that may be therein : and shall also order and cause all archives, records, deeds and papers belonging to any of the said States, or their citizens, which in the course of the war may have fallen into the hands of his officers, to be forthwith restored and delivered to the proper States and persons to whom they belong.

ARTICLE VIII.

The navigation of the Mississippi, from its source to the ocean, shall for ever remain free and open to the subjects of Great Britain, and the citizens of the United States.

ARTICLE IX.

In case it should so happen, that any place or territory belonging to Great Britain, or to the United States, should be conquered by the arms of either from the other, before the arrival of these Articles in America; it is agreed, that the same shall be restored without difficulty, and without requiring any compensation.

IN the Name of the Most Holy Trinity !
The King of Great Britain and the Most Christian King, equally animated with a de-

Orders shall be sent to the armies and squadrons, as well as to the subjects of the two Powers, to stop all hostilities, and to live in the most perfect union, forgetting what is passed, of which their Sovereigns give them the order and example; and for the execution of this article, sea passes shall be given on each side for the ships which shall be dispatched to carry the news of it to the possessions of the said Powers.

ARTICLE II.

His Majesty the King of Great Britain shall preserve in full right the Island of Newfoundland, and the adjacent islands, in the same manner as the whole was ceded to him by the 13th article of the treaty of Utrecht, save the exceptions which shall be stipulated by the 5th article of the present treaty:

ARTICLE III.

His Most Christian Majesty, in order to prevent quarrels which have hitherto arisen between the two nations of England and C 2 France,

France, renounces the right of fishing, which belongs to him by virtue of the said article of the treaty of Utrecht, from Cape Bonavista to Cape St. John, situated on the eastern coast of Newfoundland, in about 50 degrees of north-latitude; whereby the French fishery shall commence at the said Cape St. John, shall go round by the north, and going down the western coast of the Island of Newfoundland, shall have for boundary the place called Cape Raye, situated in 47 degrees 50 minutes latitude.

A R T I C L E IV.

The French fishermen shall enjoy the fishery assigned them by the foregoing article, as they have a right to enjoy it by virtue of the treaty of Utrecht.

A R T I C L E V.

His Britannick Majesty will cede in full right to his Most Christian Majesty, the Islands of St Pierre and Miquelon.

A R T I C L E VI.

A R T I C L E VIII.

The Most Christian King shall restore to Great Britain the Islands of Grenada and the Grenadines, St. Vincent's, Dominica, St. Christopher's, Nevis, and Montserrat; and the fortresses of those islands, conquered by the arms of Great Britain and by those of France, shall be restored in the same condition in which they were when the conquest of them was made; provided that the term of eighteen months, to be computed from the time of the ratification of the definitive treaty, shall be granted to the respective subjects of the Crowns of Great Britain and France who may have settled in the said islands, and in other places which shall be restored by the definitive treaty, to sell their estates, recover their debts, and to transport their effects, and retire, without being restrained on account of their religion, or any other pretence whatever, except in cases of debt, or of criminal prosecutions.

A R T I C L E IX.

The King of Great Britain shall cede and guaranty in full right to his Most Christian Majesty, the river of Senegal and its dependencies, with the forts of St. Louis, Podor, Galam, Arguin, and Portendie. His Britannick Majesty shall restore likewise the island of Goree, which shall be given up in the condition in which it was when the British arms took possession of it.

A R T I C L E X.

The Most Christian King shall on his side guaranty to his Majesty the King of Great-Britain the possession of Fort James, and of the River Gambia.

A R T I C L E XI.

ARTICLE XII.

In regard to the rest of the coasts of Africa, the subjects of both Powers shall continue to frequent them according to the custom which has prevailed hitherto.

ARTICLE XIII.

The King of Great Britain shall restore to his Most Christian Majesty all the establishments which belonged to him at the commencement of the present war on the coast of Orixa and in Bengal, with liberty to surround Chandernagor with a ditch for draining the waters; and his Britannick Majesty engages to take such measures as may be in his power for securing to the subjects of France in that part of India, as also on the coasts of Orixa, Coromandel and Malabar, a safe, free and independent trade, such as was carried on by the late French East-India Company, whether it be carried on by them as individuals or as a Company.

ARTICLE XIV.

Pondicherry, as well as Karical, shall likewise be restored and guarantied to France; and his Britannick Majesty shall procure, to serve as a dependency round Pondicherry, the two districts of Valanour and Bahour; and as

as a dependency round Karical, the four contiguous Magans.

A R T I C L E X V.

France shall again enter into possession of Mahé, and of the Comptoir at Surat, and the French shall carry on commerce in this part of India conformably to the principles laid down in the 13th article of this treaty.

A R T I C L E X V I.

In case France has allies in India, they shall be invited, as well as those of Great Britain, to accede to the present pacification: and for that purpose, a term of four months, to be computed from the day on which the proposal shall be made to them, shall be allowed them to make their decision; and in case of refusal on their part, their Britannick and Most Christian Majesties agree not to give them any assistance, directly or indirectly, against the British or French possessions, or against the ancient possessions of their respective allies; and their said Majesties shall offer them their good offices towards a mutual accommodation.

A R T I C L E X V I I.

The King of Great Britain, desirous of giving his Most Christian Majesty a sincere proof of
of

of reconciliation and friendship, and of contributing to the solidity of the peace which is on the point of being re-established, will consent to the abrogation and suppression of all the articles relative to Dunkirk, from the treaty of peace concluded at Utrecht in 1713, inclusively, to this time.

A R T I C L E XVIII.

By the definitive treaty, all those which have existed till now between the two high contracting parties, and which shall not have been derogated from, either by the said treaty, or by the present preliminary treaty, shall be renewed and confirmed; and the two Courts shall name Commissioners to enquire into the state of commerce between the two nations, in order to agree upon new arrangements of trade, on the footing of reciprocity and mutual convenience. The said two Courts shall, together, amicably fix a competent term for the duration of that business.

A R T I C L E XIX.

restored

restored without difficulty, and without requiring compensation.

ARTICLE XX.

As it is necessary to assign a fixed epoch for the restitutions and the evacuations to be made by each of the high contracting parties, it is agreed, that the King of Great Britain shall cause to be evacuated the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, three months after the ratification of the definitive treaty, or sooner if it can be done; Saint Lucia in the West-Indies, and Goree in Africa, three months after the ratification of the definitive treaty, or sooner if it can be done. The King of Great Britain shall in like manner at the end of three months after the ratification of the definitive treaty, or sooner if it can be done, enter again into possession of the islands of Grenada, the Grenadines, Saint Vincent, Dominica, Saint Christopher's, Nevis, and Montserrat.

France shall be put into possession of the towns and Comptoirs which are restored to her in the East-Indies, and of the territories which are procured for her to serve as dependencies round Pondicherry and round Karical, six months after the ratification of the definitive treaty, or sooner if it can be done.

France

France shall at the end of the same term of six months, restore the towns and territories which her arms may have taken from the English, or their allies, in the East-Indies.

In consequence whereof, the necessary orders shall be sent by each of the high contracting parties, with reciprocal passports for the ships which shall carry them, immediately after the ratification of the definitive treaty.

A R T I C L E XXI.

The prisoners made respectively by the arms of his Britannick Majesty and his Most Christian Majesty, by land and by sea, shall be restored reciprocally and bonâ fide immediately after the ratification of the definitive treaty, without ransom, and on paying the debts they may have contracted during their captivity; and each Crown shall respectively reimburse the sums which shall have been advanced for the subsistence and maintenance of their prisoners by the sovereign of the country where they shall have been detained, according to the receipts and attested accounts and other authentic titles which shall be produced on each side.

A R T I C L E XXII.

In order to prevent all causes of complaint and dispute which may arise on account of prizes which may be made at sea after the signing of these Preliminary Articles, it is reciprocally agreed, that the vessels and effects which may be taken in the Channel and in the North Seas after the space of twelve days, to be computed from the ratification of the present Preliminary Articles, shall be restored on each side. That the term shall be one month from the Channel and the North Seas, as far as the Canary Islands inclusively, whether in the Ocean, or in the Mediterranean: two months from the said Canary Islands, as far as the Equinoctial Line, or Equator: and lastly, five months in all other parts of the world, without any exception, or any other more particular description of time and place.

A R T I C L E XXIII.

The ratifications of the present Preliminary Articles shall be expedited in good and due form, and exchanged in the space of one month, or sooner if it can be done, to be computed from the day of the signature of the present articles.

In witness whereof, We the underwritten Ministers Plenipotentiary of his Britannick Majesty, Majesty, and of his Most Christian Majesty, by virtue of our respective full powers, have signed the present Preliminary Articles, and have caused the seal of our arms to be put thereto.
